

Countable & Uncountable

There are levels of infinity.
The first level is countable.

This includes sets where the elements have finite description

e.g. strings integers
 TM's
 programs

If not countable, set is uncountable.

e.g. languages real numbers

This means: almost all languages are NOT r.e.